Come early or stay late. Some of the great things you can do in Quesnel include:

Barkerville Historic Town – The Cariboo region of British Columbia's central interior has been profoundly shaped by gold, thanks in large part to a simple, working-class English prospector named Billy Barker.

The extraordinary historic town of Barkerville, named in Billy's honor, now stands as a living testament to these golden beginnings. Declared a National Historic Site of Canada in 1924, and later a Provincial Heritage Site in 1958, Barkerville is now the largest living-history museum in western North America.

Dragon Lake Fishing - One of the jewels of the Cariboo, Dragon Lake is the home of trophy size rainbow trout. Twelve pounders are caught on a regular basis and because of such great fishing; this lake is often featured on TV fishing programs. All methods of fishing work well, however, Dragon Lake is considered a fly fisher's dream. If you are visiting the Quesnel/Barkerville area, fishing this lake for that trophy rainbow trout should be high on your list of priorities.
